Summary

I am looking for a remote job only.

I am finishing my studies at the University of Wistula (Akademia Finansow i Biznesu Vistula) in Warsaw, Poland. I am majoring in Web Technology Design. This field is attractive because your work is related to the modern requirements of humanity and the results are realized almost instantly using modern global technologies. I want to develop in this direction.

About

Diplom

"Development and implementation of an online store of systems and components for smart home"

As a result of the development, a web application was created for easy ordering "Smart home" products. The relevance of the chosen topic was investigated by conducting survey and analysis of the use of similar services and their popularity. After analyzing the possible means of implementation, it was decided to develop a web application in the JavaScript programming language using Node.js and React.js library. Used MongoDB to create a database. Used the Insomnia application to to check POST and GET requests.
